Info 1213 (R95) - Assignment 3
Howard Chen

My business is an encyclopedia on tour, for people who want to learn the local history of whatever city or town you are currently at. Ideally I would make a website or app in collaboration with travel companies, local museums and culture societies, sponsored by local companies or corporations that give tours, and I would draw customers from tour groups that promote the app, solo travellers who stick to their own explorations and schedules, and even locals who are interested in history and cheap trips.

As stated earlier, this website will be done in collaboration with travel companies, local museums and culture societies, sponsored by local companies or corporations that give tours around their workplaces. I plan to do everything you would do on a trip or vacation that's not booking a hotel, so that entails finding local attractions, reserving a spot for tours, and learning local history from the citizens.

This website will, on the first page, find your location and pick out the top attractions as rated by both locals and tourists alike, or you can find other landmarks and pick your own adventure. You'll find on the bottom of the first page more mini-applications that include more about the local history, including videos of the locals themselves talking about their city.

Furthermore, once you click on an attraction or landmark, information about the place will be given to you like an encyclopedia page and travelogue, all information is up to date thanks to the direct collaboration with all of our featured sights. Of course all features will fit to your screen on both mobile and desktop.
